

Since signing up for the Do Not Call list we have been extremely pleased by the drop in telemarketing, which in our household had reached absurd proportions.

We simply do not transact with solicitors by phone, not even charities, which we request send us any solicitations by mail.

Recently, we have begun receiving solicitations again, chiefly from chimney sweep scam artists and callers from out of state. We are deeply concerned that any change in the law will facilitate even more of these obtrusive, objectionable calls that violate our privacy and disrupt family time.

No one has the right to earn his living by being a public nuisance. We will not vote for any legislator or other politician associated with a relaxation in New Jersey's Do Not Call legislation.

Jennifer Crohn
South Orange, NJ